MOTE (english) or sensor node is a node in a wireless sensor network that is capable of performing some processing, gathering sensory information and communicating with other connected nodes in the network.

- a very small particle

MØTE (norwegian) : meeting/encounter

MOTE comprises of 4 musicians from varying cultural and musical backgrounds, each specialists in their own fields who communicate most effectively through the language of improvisation. They also collaborate with artists from different genres and art forms.

Magnifying or enhancing small musical cells and sensory particles from selected source material, information is manipulated either electronically or naturally through each different musicians' sensors or filters according to their individual perspectives. It is then reprocessed and together with compositional tools, improvisation and interconnected synergy, new musical structures as a collective are formed. This combines the worlds of jazz, modern, electronica, african, folk, world ,free improvisation, classical and in essence embodies the fusion of all these musicians experiences and those they encounter moving towards a non-labelled genre
